The Bureau of Land Management is considering an unneeded, undesirable and potentially unsafe change in drilling requirements that has strong potential to further delay drilling and reduce the number of Coalbed Methane wells drilled in the Powder River Basin.

Are you concerned about unneeded regulations hurting the oil and gas industry?

Yates Petroleum is sponsoring 3 informational meetings on Thursday April 14th to communicate the changes being considered, the problems with these changes and what you can do to get your voice heard.

Learn about the drilling regulation changes BLM is considering + the negative effects they can have on your industry, employment, local business and your ranch land.

Learn what you can do today to get your voice heard + hold BLM accountable to make reasonable decisions.

Three sessions of the meetings will be held on Thursday April 14th at the Clarion Inn – 2009 South Douglas Highway

1:30 – 3:30 PM
